

Agriculture & Forestry Today with Commissioner Bob Odom

An elementary school in Slidell is the first school in the nation to receive the USDA's HealthierUS School gold medal, Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom said after taking part in an awards ceremony to present the gold medal earlier this month.

Cypress Cove Elementary School, with an enrollment of 802 students, met or exceeded all of the requirements to be designated a Team Nutrition Gold level school. The school's daily average lunch participation is 665 students. Nearly 300 students participate in the school's daily breakfast program.

"It is so inspiring to see children thinking about their health and taking care of their bodies. We always toss around the phrase 'the children are our future' and they are, so we need to teach them to eat right and stay active," Odom said. "I congratulate Principal Thais Wahl, Cafeteria Manager Robin Blakeman and St. Tammany Parish School Food Services Supervisor Sylvia Dunn on a job well done. They care about these students as if they were all their own."

Presenting the gold medal on behalf of the USDA were Under Secretary for Food, Nutrition and Consumer Services Eric M. Bost and Food and Nutrition Service Administrator Roberto Salazar.

The HealthierUS School Challenge was established to encourage students, parents and schools to achieve healthy environments through good nutrition and physical activity. This program builds upon the USDA's Team Nutrition program. Through these efforts, schools are provided: nutrition education materials for children and families based on dietary guidelines, technical assistance materials for school food service directors, and materials to build school and community support for healthy eating and physical activity.

The Department of Agriculture and Forestry partner in school food programs because it administers the USDA food commodity program for the state. Annually, the department distributes nearly 40 million pounds of commodities, valued at roughly $25 million, through 678 participating local agencies and schools. The commodity program helps to feed 775,000 children and senior citizens in this state.

"We are honored to be part of this celebration and hope more Louisiana schools will look to Cypress Cove as inspiration for what can be done with school lunches," Odom told the students, faculty and parents during the ceremony. "The parents of students at Cypress Cove Elementary and all St. Tammany schools should be proud that they have school leaders who care about the health and well-being of their children."

In order to be certified as part of the HealthierUS School challenge, schools must enroll in Team Nutrition and meet higher standards than the basic federal government requirements.

Gold medal recipients must meet the following criteria:

♦Serve National School Lunch Program meals that are verified to meet nutritional standards.

♦Offer nutrition education.

♦Maintain National School Lunch Program participation above the national average.

♦Offer physical activity for students.

♦Ensure that all foods offered throughout the school meet healthy standards as reflected in the Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

♦Meet healthy standards for all foods offered anywhere in the school at any time of day (or avoid serving or selling any food or drink other than school meals).

♦Offer school lunches every day that include fresh fruit or raw vegetables, a whole grain product, and low-fat or non-fat milk.

♦Ethanol use will cut the U.S. trade deficit by $34.1 billion through 2012. Increasing ethanol use in the U.S., as called for in the pending Renewable Fuels Standard, will create nearly 50,000 permanent jobs, with indirect employment totaling over 200,000 new jobs.

♦Ethanol production and use benefit U.S. agriculture and leads rural economic development. Because it is made primarily from corn and other agricultural products, ethanol increases demand for these crops and increases the prices farmers receive for crops.

♦USDA estimates the Renewable Fuels Standard would generate an additional $2 billion to $4 billion in net farm income by 2012.

♦American-made, renewable ethanol directly displaces the amount of crude oil we need to import, offering our country critically needed independence and security from foreign sources of energy.

♦Current U.S. ethanol production of 3.5 billion gallons per year can reduce gasoline imports by 35% and effectively extends gasoline supplies at a time when refining capacity is at its maximum. The 5 billion gallon ethanol production level contemplated in the Renewable Fuels Standard could reduce oil imports by nearly 350,000 barrels per day.

♦Since 1978, U.S. ethanol production has replaced over 14 billion gallons of imported gasoline or crude oil.

♦U.S. fuel consumption increased from 12 billion gallons per year in 1970, to 160 billion gallons in 2002.

♦The U.S. imports 37 million gallons per day, an amount that has more than doubled in the past three years.

♦Ethanol-blended fuel shows a 35-46% reduction in greenhouse gas emissions and a 50-60% reduction in fossil energy use.

In medium saucepan, stir together milk, eggs and sugar until thoroughly blended. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick enough to coat a metal spoon with a thin film and reaches at least 160°F. Remove from heat. Stir in chocolate and flavorings until chocolate is melted. Spoon into 8 pot de creme cups or 1/4-cup dessert dishes. Sprinkle with almonds. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.
